Dear Shareholders:

Stan A. Askren
Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer

The year 2010 was a good year for HNI Corporation. We began to see the payoff from our moves during the recession to significantly reduce structural costs and simultaneously invest for future growth. The economy began to heal; our office furniture businesses grew and our hearth business's profits improved.

Solid Recovery – Office Furniture

Our corporate project-driven office furniture business experienced strong growth as larger corporations and the federal government began to spend in pursuit of lower lease rates, lower occupancy costs and growth.

Our business in China experienced significant growth and won large projects with some of the leading and fastest-growing Chinese companies. Our international business is relatively small but growing rapidly.

The supplies-driven portion of our business, driven by small businesses, grew as well, though more slowly than our project business. Small business confidence and spending was low throughout the year with the overhang of uncertainty about employment, retail spending, tax increases, new healthcare legislation and tight bank lending. We are a leader in this segment of the market with our HON brand and look forward to an accelerated recovery as the economy continues to improve.

Hearth Business Profit Improvement

Our hearth business continued to face a challenging climate as housing starts were stubborn to grow. Despite the challenges, we managed a $16 million profit improvement versus last year on 1 percent more sales. Our hearth market position is outstanding. We have the strongest brands, strongest distribution, best manufacturing and best product lineup. With our cost reset, and investments in products and selling and marketing capabilities, this business is spring loaded for profitable growth as housing recovers. We believe the worst in housing is over, though the pace of recovery remains uncertain.

Profitable Growth

HNI has done an effective job of simultaneously reducing costs and investing for the future. The net result in 2010 is profit growth of 34 percent on sales growth of 4 percent.

The organization also did a good job of generating strong cash flow. This allowed us to strengthen our balance sheet and continue to pay a strong dividend, which is valued by shareholders and a key objective of the management team. We are the only major public office furniture company to maintain its dividend during the economic crisis, and we are pleased we were able to increase the dividend in February of this year.

Split and Focus Strategy Is Working

Our unique split and focus business model serves us well during dynamic times, when the race is won by companies most responsive to changing economic conditions and customer demand. Each of our companies focuses on a distinct market. Each has its own organization, strategy, selling and fulfillment models and financial model. At the same time, we leverage HNI's collective scale around purchasing, information technologies and people development and HNI's best practices around lean manufacturing and management.

As we look forward, we have no doubt the world and our markets will continue to be dynamic, uncertain and competitive. We will continue to leverage the combined strength of our members, culture and business model to excel, whatever the economic climate.

Our member owners, and their respective companies, delivered very strong operational and customer service results. We again achieved record levels of reliable and responsive service and delivery. We continued to drive our Rapid Continuous Improvement (RCI) processes to improve product flow and customer responsiveness and eliminate cost and waste. RCI remains at the heart of our culture and touches everything we do. We have a unique culture where members are engaged – thinking and behaving like owners. This, combined with our philosophy and culture of continuous improvement, makes a powerful and sustainable value creator for customers and shareholders alike.

Accelerating Investments and Positioning for Profitable Growth

We continue to focus on long-term shareholder value creation, at times foregoing short-term gains. During the economic recession, in the midst of painful cost resets, we accelerated our investments in business growth initiatives. We again introduced a record number of new product solutions across all our companies. We introduced new industry-leading sales, marketing and delivery programs. We achieved excellent success with our core focused market strategy and saw strong growth in our education, government and international markets. We added numerous new dealer and channel partner resources and programs to help our resellers compete more effectively and profitably in their markets. We have confidence in our market momentum and the returns our strategic investments are generating now and in the future.

As we look forward, we have no doubt the world and our markets will continue to be dynamic, uncertain and competitive. We will continue to leverage the combined strength of our members, culture and business model to excel, whatever the economic climate.

Words of Thanks

Thank you to our customers for your business. Thank you to our members for your commitment. Thank you to our shareholders for your investment and faith in us.

Our Commitment to a Sustainable Future

HNI Corporation has a long history of sustainable business practices. From our earliest days we focused on the fundamentals of true sustainability—people, planet and profits.

People

The company was founded to create jobs for veterans returning from World War II, and one of our first policies declared employees to be "members" with collective responsibility and shared rewards. Member development continues to be a key priority of our long-term strategy. Today, HNI has more than 8,000 members worldwide, most of whom are part owners of HNI through our stock ownership programs. Our members are actively involved in numerous initiatives to make a positive difference and improve the quality of life in the communities where they live. In addition, the HNI Charitable Foundation funds many civic, community, cultural and education activities.

Planet

Efficient manufacturing and careful use of resources is the core of who we are. As early as 1947, the corporation was recycling scrap materials into new consumer products. HNI was an early adopter of Lean and Rapid Continuous Improvement methodology to eliminate waste and drive the most efficient use of natural resources. Today, we have one of the industry's strongest and most comprehensive programs to conserve raw materials and reduce waste. We have proven "Lean leads to green."

Profits

True sustainability demands sufficient return on investment to reward shareholders for use of their money, appropriately reward members and fund innovations and investments for long-term growth. HNI has a long track record of delivering steady growth and creating long-term shareholder value. We are committed to rewarding our shareholders and investing in our businesses for aggressive profitable growth.

In 2010, we:

- Established an executive Corporate Governance, Compliance and Social Responsibility Committee
- Formalized a comprehensive energy management system
- Reduced our recordable injury rate for the sixth consecutive year to about 30% of the national average
- Earned Ethisphere™ Institute recognition for corporate ethics
- Established a corporate-wide wellness and health management system
- Our growing commitment to sustainability has allowed HNI businesses to obtain level certification for the industry's widest and most complete offering of products rated under the ANSI/BIFMA e3 Furniture Sustainability Standard
